AIR-P Presents: Tele-therapy for autism during COVID-19: A survey of parents in Southern California

Presented by Dr. Kristen Choi, PhD, RN, FAAN

Assistant Professor, UCLA School of Nursing

Co-leader of AIR-P Primary Care Services and Quality Node

This presentation will use data from a recent survey of parents in Southern California to discuss:

- How parents felt about telehealth as a therapy modality for their children with autism
- How COVID-19 illness and pandemic stress affected telehealth perceptions
- Which families telehealth does and does not work well for

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

In collaboration with the Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD), we hold monthly webinars showcasing our work and current research. Previous webinar recordings can be found here.

- In celebration of Autism Acceptance Month, we hosted a double-header webinar! First presentation by Dr. Lindsay Shea and Dr. Kristy Anderson from Drexel Autism Institute on The Intersection of Autism, Health, Poverty and Racial Equity. Followed by, Dr. Jenny Mai Phan, postdoctoral fellow at University of Wisconsin Madison on Why Studying Puberty in Autism Research Matters.
 - View the recording here!
- In a 6-week span, Dr. Emily Hotez is co-hosting the Inclusive Public Health Communication Workshop Series: Content Development for social media. This four-part series is focused on providing the knowledge, tools, and skills to become an effective public health messenger for disenfranchised communities, with an emphasis on neurodivergent and disability communities during and post-COVID-19.
 - Click here to register for the next workshop.
- The National Council on Disability (NCD) created a Health Equity Framework with four core areas that the NCD views as foundational for achieving health equity for people with disabilities.
